ENHANCED PERFORMANCE, SHARPER GRAPHICS: The most powerful of the new systems announced today -- the IBM Personal System/2 (TM) Model 80 -- is a floor-standing model available in three configurations. It is ideal for environments like the architectural firm above, where users require a high-performance system to solve complex mathematical, scientific and engineering problems. With the IBM Personal System/2 Color Display Model 8514, a 16-inch high-addressability display shown above, users can expect high quality, sharper-definition graphics and the capability to choose up to 256 colors out of a palette of more than 256,000. On the table at the left is the IBM 5.25-inch External Diskette Drive. Behind it is the new IBM Proprietary (TM) XL 24.
